FROM MY FAMILY TO YOURS, MERRY CHRISTMAS!

The true joy of Christmas is in the love shared with family and friends. Trish, Carter, Meredith, Paige, Kevork and I send our warmest wishes to everyone celebrating Christmas this week.

Cherish each moment this holiday season, for these are the memories that warm our hearts
year after year.

Christmas is a special time of year when we celebrate faith, family, and goodwill towards others. It is also a time to be thankful for the beautiful province in which we live and for the freedoms we enjoy. Regardless of the special traditions you may embrace, please be mindful of those who cannot be home with their own families and friends. I offer my deepest thanks and Merry Christmas wishes to members of the Canadian Forces here at home or deployed overseas. Special thoughts to all those affected by the wars Israel and Ukraine.

If your holiday plans involve travel, please do so safely and may the true meaning of this holiday season fill your heart and home with many blessings. Live each moment with joy and gratitude and may you carry this thought with you all through the year.

My wish:

May this Christmas bring us closer to the spirit of human understand and closer to the blessing of peace!

From my family to yours, we wish all of you a very Merry Christmas!

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR RUSS MIRASTY - 2023 CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

Hello! Bonjour! Tansi!

As the days shorten and the temperatures drop, we brighten the darkness with glowing candles and twinkling lights, and ward off the cold with hot drinks and a warm fire.

This can be a wonderful season of friends and family coming together in a spirit of warmth, with heartfelt wishes for "peace on earth".

While we gather with loved ones, let's also remember that what is a joyous time for some, can be lonely for others. I applaud all of you who reach out to people who may be feeling cut off from their communities.

Giving reflects the true spirit of the holiday season. I am grateful to everyone who donates their time, talents and funds to food banks, shelters, charities, service groups, and wherever there is need. In Saskatchewan, we have an abundance of kind-hearted people.

One of the most fulfilling parts of my role as Lieutenant Governor is acknowledging people who make our province a special place to live. The Queen Elizabeth the Second Platinum Jubilee Medal program was created in celebration of the Late Queen's seventy years on the Throne. In 2023 the program continued, as people throughout Saskatchewan were awarded medals for their outstanding contributions and accomplishments in diverse fields.

I also had the pleasure of presenting exemplary service medals to police, fire fighters, EMTs and other emergency services. We owe our first responders, health care professionals, and members of the Canadian Armed Forces a debt of gratitude for all they do to keep us safe. They give so much of themselves - often spending time away from their families during the holidays.

Donna and I are fortunate to serve as Honorary Patrons of many worthwhile organizations. The work of these groups ranges from supporting military and veterans; to supporting seniors or youth; from promoting mental health or physical fitness, to celebrating arts and culture. We are grateful to each of our patronage organizations for enriching the lives of so many people in our communities.

As the end of the year draws near, it is a good time to reflect on some of the highlights of the past 12 months. Last May, for the first time in over seven decades, a new Canadian monarch was crowned at Westminster Abbey. Here in Saskatchewan, we celebrated King Charles the Third's Coronation with a public event at Government House in Regina on May 13.

Just three days later, Donna and I had the privilege of a private meeting with His Majesty in the breathtaking surroundings of Buckingham Palace. We were impressed by both The King's interest in, and knowledge of our province.

We treasure these and many more memories of the passing year, and we look forward to the new year. We invite you to join us at Government House on January first for the annual New Year's Day Levee.

And now, I am happy to bring you seasons greetings on behalf of His Majesty, King Charles the Third, King of Canada. I will also share these greetings in my first language, which is Woodland Cree.

Nitha ikwa Donna ni-cawasimisinanah, nosisiminanah.

Nipakosithitinan kahkithaw

Kita mitho makosikisikahisik ekwa kita mitho ocimikisikahisik.

On behalf of my family and staff, I wish you health, happiness and prosperity throughout the holidays and into the new year.

Joyeux Noël! Merry Christmas! Happy New Year!

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE FROM PREMIER SCOTT MOE

Joy to the world! The Lord is come...

Let earth receive her King...

Let every heart prepare Him room...

The story of Christmas is well known... A child born in humble beginnings.

A child sent to bring a message of peace...of salvation... of joy...

And to bring a message that joy is not found in possessions but in our family... in our friends...in the freedom that we have.

Christmas can be a very busy time...

As we get on the road to travel to spend time with family...

Or prepare to have family and friends share the holidays with you...

There is the inevitable rushing to find the perfect gift...

the perfect tree... rushing to make the perfect meal...

It is easy to get caught up in the busyness of the season.

Let us not forget that...

The message of joy at Christmas remains unchanged.

And so as you gather this Christmas season, I hope you will find joy in fellowship with family and friends.

As you open presents on Christmas morning, you will find joy in the excited eyes of your children and grandchildren.

And as you look on the blessings in your life, that you might find joy in being a blessing to those around you.

Joy to the world... the Lord is come...

On behalf of my colleagues, my wife Krista, and our family...

I wish you and your family a very Merry Christmas and a joyful New Year.

LEADER OF THE OPPOSITION CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

What does Christmas mean to me?

First off, for me, it means family. And community. Joining loved ones for a time of love and laughter while celebrating traditions and making new memories.

It's also a time to remember to reach out to those for whom this most wonderful time of the year can be profoundly difficult.

When I was a kid growing up in Lang, every Christmas Eve, on our way home from mass, we'd stop by to visit our neighbour Mildred.

Mildred had been widowed for many years and I know she always looked forward to our family visits.

My mom and dad would hide a stocking full of small gifts for her and in that stocking would be a goat, because Mildred and my dad would always tease each other about being old goats.

I know Mildred always loved those visits but when I look back, those visits are some of my fondest childhood memories because we were able to share the joy of the season with someone we all truly cherished.

When Guy and I started our family, we got to bring together our different Christmas traditions, and got to start a few of our own!

To say the least, our three kids give us a lot to celebrate. There is no greater joy than celebrating the season through the eyes of a child.

And I have to say, one of the biggest gifts for me this year is that my eldest child, my daughter Hannah, who's been away at school for the better part of the past five years is now moving back to the province - and I couldn't be happier.

A Saskatchewan Christmas can certainly be cold, but it's by joining with our loved ones that we can find comfort and joy, warmth and light. It's a time to hold our loved ones close, to count our blessings.

To know that it is better to give than to receive. To seek renewal.

To do our part to better the lives of those around us.

think of the Hindu festival of lights, Diwali, or of Judaism's celebration of Hanukkah.

Like Christmas, both hold out the hope for the triumph of light over darkness, togetherness over isolation, love over hate.

Ultimately, hope, generosity, and love is what we're all celebrating this season, and it's what we should strive for...every day.

So, no matter where you live, who is at your table,

On behalf of my family, and on behalf of the extended Saskatchewan NDP family, I want to wish you a very Merry Christmas, and a Happy New Year.

MORE AMBULANCES AND PARAMEDICS FOR SASKATOON

Improving Response Times

More Ambulances and Paramedics for Saskatoon

The Government of Saskatchewan is investing $700,000 in 2023-24 and $2.6 million annually to provide support for additional resources to help address growing demands for emergency medical services (EMS) in Saskatoon.

Saskatoon will receive two additional ambulances staffed 24 hours a day/seven days a week, as well as an additional community paramedic 12 hours a day/seven days a week.

“We are committed to ensuring Saskatchewan patients have the access they need to emergency medical services in health crisis situations,” Health Minister Everett Hindley said. “This increase in ambulance and paramedic capacity for the Saskatoon area will improve response times to 911 calls and better balance the workload for our paramedics.”

SASK DLC PROVIDES K-12 EDUCATION TO MORE THAN 5,500 ONLINE STUDENTS

Saskatchewan Distance Learning Centre (Sask DLC) is providing Kindergarten to Grade 12 online education to students throughout the province. There are more than 2,000 full-time K-12 students and 3,500 part-time students, primarily in Grades 10-12, taking more than 16,000 courses.

That includes students from 26 school divisions, some independent schools, First Nation schools and post-secondary institutions.

"It is wonderful to see so many students taking advantage of the opportunities available through online learning," Minister Responsible for Sask DLC Jeremy Cockrill said. "Sask DLC provides students, families and schools choice, flexibility and access to an amazing selection of courses that supports them in reaching their academic goals and graduation."

HOW WILL YOU REDUCE YOUR WASTE THIS HOLIDAY?

Low Waste Holiday Tips

Still shopping for gifts?

It can be easy AND low waste. Some ideas we have are:

- Experiences - give tickets to movies or sign them up for events/classes.
- Gift cards - bonus for shopping local.
- Are you baking? Sharing your treats is a great way to show love.
- Donation to a charity close to their heart.

saskatchewan.ca/environment

Saskatchewan!

The Ministry of Environment is once again encouraging everyone in Saskatchewan to consider waste reduction when preparing for this holiday season.

"This is a special time of year, where we gather together with friends and family, but this season also gives us the opportunity to think about the amount, and kind, of waste we produce," Environment Minister Christine Tell said. "On average, only half of the material in your garbage bin belongs there - the rest can be diverted into other waste management programs, such as recycling and composting."

It can be tricky to know where to start, however, the Ministry of Environment will be sharing low waste holiday tips - including low- or no-waste decorating, gift-giving and wrapping, and post-holiday clean up - starting tomorrow on the Saskatchewan Environment Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/SKEnviro>

55 NEWLY RENOVATED AFFORDABLE HOUSING UNITS OPEN IN SASKATOON TO SUPPORT LOW INCOME FAMILIES

Saskatoon families in need have access to newly renovated affordable housing units, thanks to a $13.04 million investment from the provincial and federal governments.

The announcement was made today by Saskatoon Churchill-Wildwood MLA Lisa Lambert, on behalf of Social Services Minister and Minister Responsible for the Saskatchewan Housing Corporation (SHC) Gene Makowsky alongside representatives from the Saskatoon Housing Authority to officially welcome tenants into their newly renovated homes.

"We recognize that safe and affordable housing contributes to the health and wellbeing of people in our province," Makowsky said. "Our government continues to work with the Government of Canada through the National Housing Strategy to modernize and improve in-demand social housing across the province."

CONSTRUCTION

Province a Leader in the Nation in Year-Over-Year Growth

New figures released by Statistics Canada rank Saskatchewan second for year-over-year and month-over-month growth in investment in building construction for October 2023 (seasonally adjusted).

"Saskatchewan's economy continues to thrive, as shown by the current surge in building construction investment," Trade and Export Development Minister Jeremy Harrison said. "Our stable business environment, competitive incentives, and personalized support continue to provide opportunities for the investors, companies and communities that contribute to the success of our province."
