REPORT FROM THE LEGISLATURE

Saskatchewan continues to receive great news on its economy. The province's AA (low) credit rating and stable outlook was affirmed in a recent release from DBRS Morningstar. When ratings from three major rating agencies (Moody's, DBRS Morningstar and S&P) are considered, Saskatchewan has the second highest credit rating among all provinces.

The province's wholesale trade for May 2023 was up 89.8 per cent from May 2022, for a total value of $7 billion. This is also an increase of 47.9 per cent above April 2023. This record wholesale trade growth is proof that Saskatchewan's economic momentum continues.

Our province's strong and growing economy allows our government to invest in the programs and services that matter most to Saskatchewan people. The Seniors Income Plan (SIP) benefit has increased to $360 per month fulfilling our government's three-year commitment to better support seniors across Saskatchewan. SIP provides seniors with financial assistance to help meet their basic needs, in addition to income they receive through the Old Age Security and the Guaranteed Income Supplement. Eligible seniors automatically receive this benefit based on the filing of their most recent income tax return. This $3 million investment will support 14,500 seniors and marks the eighth increase to SIP since 2008 when the maximum benefit was just $90 per month. Our government just announced an investment of $530,000 to provide bursaries for students and recent graduates joining Emergency Medical Services (EMS) here in Saskatchewan. You can learn more at www.saskhealthauthority.ca.

As Saskatchewan's economy continues to grow, we celebrate the industries that create this economic growth. August 5 is Canada Food Day, an opportunity to celebrate Saskatchewan's world-class, environmentally sustainable products that feed people all over the world. Canada Food Day highlights the farmers and ranchers who grow the products served at consumers' dinner tables.

This year, as those agricultural producers are facing many challenges due to dry conditions, our government is supporting them in many ways. The Saskatchewan Crop Insurance Corporation (SCIC) has doubled its low yield threshold for this year to allow additional acres of low yielding crops to be diverted to feed. For more information, call 1-888-935-0000 or visit scic.ca.

Agriculture Minister David Marit requested the federal government conduct an AgriRecovery assessment to determine what assistance could be provided to livestock producers. The province also requested an early designation of the federal Livestock Tax Deferral Program to provide producers facing potential feed shortages with more options as they consider if they need to liquidate part of their herd. Our government is committed to supporting our farmers and ranchers to lessen the impact of these challenging conditions.

Our government also continues to urge the federal government to do everything within its power to facilitate a resolution to the BC port workers' strike. We are deeply concerned about the impact on our province's export-based industries. The efficient and reliable delivery of goods through these ports is key to maintaining Saskatchewan's reputation as a dependable trading partner. As summer continues, there are many opportunities to enjoy what Saskatchewan has to offer.

INNOVATIVE SERVICE IMPROVES ACCESS TO CARE FOR SASKATCHEWAN PATIENTS

The Government of Saskatchewan is reminding patients and providers of a free tool to increase accessibility of medical appointments. Up and running since June 2022, the Saskatchewan Virtual Visit Program allows patients to connect with their health care provider from home, or a location of their choice, using audio or video conferencing. Patients may also choose to have family members or support persons with them during the consultation.

Health care providers across Saskatchewan including physicians, nurses, mental health professionals and allied health care professionals (such as physiotherapists) can use the Saskatchewan Virtual Visit Program to connect with patients.

"Our goal is to ensure that Saskatchewan residents, regardless of where they live may easily connect with their health care providers," Minister of Health Paul Merriman said. "The program improves access to care, reduces the need to travel for patients in rural settings, and allows providers to treat patients in a more timely fashion, on a schedule that works for them."

Ken Cheveldayoff - Saskatoon Willowgrove

A pilot program to help people reduce their risk of overdose and other drug-related harms is being extended.

Overdose Outreach Teams (OOT) in Saskatoon will continue for another six months to further develop the outreach process and expand the reach of the teams.

"The Overdose Outreach Teams have done some promising work building relationships with Saskatchewan residents who are struggling with addictions," Mental Health and Addictions Minister Everett Hindley said. "I've heard some of the success stories that the teams have had so far and look forward to seeing how they help more people access supports."

SASKATCHEWAN NOW OFFERING LARGE TRAINING BURSARIES TO SUPPORT FUTURE PARAMEDICS

The Government of Saskatchewan is now offering financial supports for individuals interested in pursuing a frontline paramedic career in Saskatchewan. Training bursaries will be available to students and new graduates of paramedic programs who commit to joining Emergency Medical Services (EMS) in Saskatchewan. The bursaries will be administered by the Saskatchewan Health Authority.

"Having stable and reliable emergency medical services that meet patients' needs in our communities is a priority of our government," Rural and Remote Health Minister Everett Hindley said. "This includes training more paramedics to work in the Saskatchewan EMS field and supporting them with incentives, especially in rural communities."

One-time funding of $530,000 will provide a total of 58 bursaries to support paramedic training for EMS providers within the province. Bursaries will range from $5,000 to $10,000.

SASKATCHEWAN'S AA (LOW) CREDIT RATING AFFIRMED BY DBRS MORNINGSTAR

Growth that Works for Everyone

MLA Ken Cheveldayoff on Saskatchewan's AA (low) Credit Rating

Saskatchewan's economy continues to grow, and our province has a strong fiscal outlook. We will continue to invest in the programs, services, and capital projects to improve the lives of Saskatchewan people, while being financially responsible by paying down debt.

Saskatchewan Party Caucus

In its recent release, DBRS Morningstar affirms the province's AA (low) credit rating and stable outlook.

Saskatchewan currently has the second highest credit rating among the provinces when all three major rating agencies (Moody's, DBRS Morningstar, and S&P) are considered. In June 2023 S&P Global Ratings gave Saskatchewan their highest credit rating amongst Canadian provinces.

"Saskatchewan's economy continues to grow, and our province has a strong fiscal outlook. We will continue to invest in the programs, services, and capital projects to improve the lives of Saskatchewan people, while being financially responsible by paying down debt," Deputy Premier and Minister of Finance Donna Harpauer said. "DBRS Morningstar's report and affirmation is encouraging and speaks to our strengths."

THE GOVERNMENTS OF CANADA AND SASKATCHEWAN SIGN HISTORICAL BILATERAL AGREEMENT TO END GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE

Living a life free from violence is a fundamental human right, unfortunately gender-based violence (GBV) continues to be a significant barrier to achieving gender equality in Canada. It is one of the most pervasive, deadly and deeply rooted human rights violations of our time that affects people of all backgrounds, genders and ages.

"This funding will help us enhance our existing programs and expand on the good work going on throughout the province." Minister of Parks, Culture and Sport, Minister Responsible for the Status of Women Office and Minister Responsible for Francophone Affairs Laura Ross said. "The Saskatchewan Government will fund a wide range of initiatives with a special focus on prevention; actions that will raise awareness of the issue, educate the public, assist those at greatest risk, and support intervention. These are investments that can get us closer to our ultimate goal, which is to end gender-based violence."

GOVERNMENT INCREASES SENIORS INCOME PLAN BENEFIT

The Government of Saskatchewan is investing an additional $3 million in the Seniors Income Plan (SIP) this year, helping approximately 14,500 seniors with low income enjoy a better quality of life.

"I am proud to announce our government's continued commitment to making life more affordable for seniors," Social Services Minister Gene Makowsky said. "This increase to the Seniors Income Plan represents an investment to support positive outcomes for Saskatchewan people."

On July 1, 2023, the maximum monthly benefit increased $30 per month from $330 to $360 for single seniors, and from $295 to $325 per month each for married partners for a total of $650 per month.

SIP provides seniors with financial assistance to help meet their basic needs, in addition to income they receive through the Old Age Security and the Guaranteed Income Supplement. Eligible seniors automatically receive this benefit based on the filing of their most recent income tax return.

This fulfills the Government of Saskatchewan's three-year commitment to increase SIP benefits. This is also the eighth increase since 2008, when maximum benefits for single seniors were $90 per month.

Lieutenant Governor Russ Mirasty announced the names of six outstanding individuals who will become the next recipients of the Saskatchewan Order of Merit, the province's highest honour. These medal recipients will be invested with the Order at a formal ceremony in Saskatoon on Sept. 27, 2023.

"These Saskatchewan Order of Merit recipients have taken on challenges and dedicated themselves to making positive change in their communities," Mirasty said. "Their efforts have made a remarkable impact on our province and its people. I wish to congratulate and express my gratitude to each of the recipients for years of contributions and commitment."

The Saskatchewan Order of Merit was established in 1985 to celebrate excellence and achievement by Saskatchewan citizens. To date, 266 individuals have been invested with the Order in appreciation of their significant contributions in areas such as agriculture, business, industry, community leadership, public service, art, research and volunteering. The Saskatchewan Order of Merit is recognized in the Canadian Honours System and members of the Order are entitled to use the post-nominal letters S.O.M.

THOUGHT OF THE DAY

May every sunrise bring you hope, may every sunset bring you peace.

so often living through the worst allows us to see the best in others, because "we've been there and felt that way before."

we all walk our own paths, but knowing what it feels like to carry pain longer than we thought we could and seeing someone else do the same allows us to have empathy, and encourages us to love people as they are - where they are.

while offering help in the ways we can.
