THRONE SPEECH 2024: A NEW BEGINNING

The first session of the new Saskatchewan Legislative Assembly opened today with a Throne Speech that promised a new beginning.

Premier Scott Moe said the Throne Speech responds to the two messages that voters delivered in the recent provincial election.

"Many Saskatchewan people voted to re-elect our government to keep our economy strong and our future bright, while many others voted for change," Moe said. "My government will deliver both."

The Throne Speech focuses on two specific areas where Moe said the government needs to do better: health and education.

In health, the government will:

- Shorten surgical wait times by ensuring that 450,000 surgeries are performed over the next four years;

- Open additional urgent care centres in Saskatoon, Prince Albert, North Battleford, Moose Jaw and Regina to provide timely access to mental health and addictions services and take pressure off emergency rooms in hospitals;
- Continue to increase the number of doctors, nurses and other health care professionals in Saskatchewan;
- Work to ensure everyone in Saskatchewan has access to a primary health provider - a doctor or a nurse practitioner - by the end of 2028;
- Engage with nurses throughout the province by creating a patient-focused nursing task force;
- Provide women with the option to do cervix self-screening at home for the human papillomavirus (HPV), the leading cause of cervical cancer; and
- Expand coverage for glucose monitoring to seniors ages 65 and older and young adults ages 25 and under.

In education and child care, the government will:

- Expand its specialized support classroom pilot to 200 more schools throughout the province;
- Focus on improving reading levels, specifically in Kindergarten to Grade 3;
- Increase funding to school divisions and add more teachers and support staff to help meet the pressures of growing student enrolment and the challenges of classroom complexity; and
- Provide funding for 12,000 additional new childcare space developments.

The Throne Speech also delivers on the government's election campaign commitments to make life more affordable. These include:

- The largest personal income tax reduction since 2008;
- Increasing the Low-Income Tax Credit by 20 per cent;
- Removing the carbon tax on home heating for another year;
- Doubling the Active Families Benefit;
- Creating a Home Renovation Tax Credit;
- Increasing the First-Time Homebuyers Tax Credit;
- Increasing the Personal Care Home Benefit by $1000 a month;

- Increasing the Disability Tax Credit, the Disability Tax Credit supplement and the Caregiver Tax Credit by 25 per cent; and
- Increasing the Graduate Retention Plan benefit by 20 per cent to a maximum of $24,000.

Moe said Bill 1 of the new legislative session will be The Saskatchewan Affordability Act - legislation to enact the government's campaign commitments to make life more affordable.

"We will also fulfil our campaign commitment to strengthen The Safer Communities and Neighbourhoods Act and other legislation to provide the police with additional authority to shut down nuisance properties and address disruptive behaviour on public property," Moe said.

"This is in addition to many other steps our government is taking to make our communities and neighbourhoods safer - more police officers, more mental health support and more access to recovery spaces."

The Throne Speech also includes the rest of the government's campaign commitments, including:

- Keeping the small business tax at one per cent;
- Creating a young entrepreneur bursary;
- Developing a new investment tax incentive;
- Creating a new $5,000 Class 1 Truck Driver Training rebate;
- Doubling the Community Rink Affordability Grant to $5,000 per ice surface; and
- Creating a new School Playground Equipment Fund to help fund 50 per cent of the cost of new playground projects.

The Throne Speech also includes a commitment to work to improve the tone and decorum of the Legislative Assembly.

"The recent election and this Throne Speech mark a new beginning for our government," Moe said. "We will work to deliver on all the commitments we made in the election campaign and we will work to address those areas where voters told us we need to do better."

CELEBRATING EDUCATION WEEK IN SASKATCHEWAN

Education Week

Providing opportunities so students can shape their own learning journey.

November 24 to 30, 2024

This year's Education Week theme is Learning is a Journey. Join the Government of Saskatchewan during the week of November 24 to 30, 2024, as we celebrate student success and the important role education professionals play in guiding, teaching, inspiring and shaping the minds of Saskatchewan learners.

We encourage communities, schools and school divisions across Saskatchewan to use this week to acknowledge the hard work and dedication of our students. This week we also honour the teachers and school staff who positively impact our students, our future and our province through education.

Education Week

Supporting Saskatchewan students to reach their full potential.

November 24 to 30, 2024

"Education inspires a passion to learn, encourages creativity, teaches teamwork and helps build the next generation of leaders and innovators," Education Minister Everett Hindley said. "Thank you to our dedicated education professionals for providing our students with the skills, knowledge and opportunities they need to experience the best journey of learning and growth."

The Government of Saskatchewan would also like to celebrate and acknowledge approximately 1,300 school bus drivers who ensure over 70,000 Saskatchewan students get to and from school safely each day by proclaiming November 25, 2024, as Bus Driver Appreciation Day. School bus drivers are an essential part of the education system as they ensure students can access the learning opportunities they need to thrive.

The Ministry of Highways officially launched its winter safety campaign with a new Highway Hotline ads about its new road condition terminology and a reminder about how to keep snowplow operators and drivers safe.

"I would like to thank everyone who checks the Highway Hotline to help them make an informed decision before they travel," Highways Minister David Marit said.

"Knowing current road conditions and maintaining respectful distances from snowplows and other motorists help everyone arrive safely at their destinations."

SASKATCHEWAN RESEARCH COUNCIL HELD A SUCCESSFUL INAUGURAL "TECH EXPO" IN SASKATOON

The Saskatchewan Research Council (SRC) held its inaugural Tech Expo event November 20th and 21st in Saskatoon, showcasing its wide array of its leading-edge projects and services to hundreds of SRC employees, industry client groups and community collaborators from across the province.

With more than 75 years of Research Development and Demonstration experience, SRC is Canada's second largest research and technology organization with 1,400 clients in 22 countries around the world - helping clients solve technology problems, make improvements, seize opportunities, maintain competitiveness, increase productivity and develop new markets.

"The Saskatchewan Research Council supports innovation and industrial commercialization for clients around the world," Minister Responsible for SRC Warren Kaeding said. "Inviting Saskatchewan people to see this state-of-the-art technology firsthand through a Tech Expo represents a great opportunity to showcase the positive impacts SRC is making internationally."

SASKATCHEWAN MANUFACTURING WEEK CELEBRATES SECTOR'S ECONOMIC SUCCESS

Manufacturing Week

Manufacturing plays a vital role in Saskatchewan's economic growth

November 25-29

Saskatchewan's Manufactured Goods Exports Reach Record $11.6 Billion in 2023

The Government of Saskatchewan has proclaimed November 24 to 30 as Manufacturing Week in the province. The proclamation, supported by Canadian Manufacturers and Exporters (CME), is an opportunity to highlight the sector's significant contribution to economic growth in Saskatchewan.

"Manufacturing is crucial to the strength of our provincial economy," Trade and Export Development Minister Warren Kaeding said. "Saskatchewan's thriving manufacturing sector complements our rapidly growing natural resource and agriculture sectors, bringing benefits to all Saskatchewan people. Nearly half of all Saskatchewan manufacturing companies are located in rural areas, creating jobs and economic activity for local communities across the province."

MARKING ADDICTIONS AWARENESS WEEK WITH MORE TREATMENT SPACES AND RECOVERY SUPPORTS

The Government of Saskatchewan is recognizing November 24 to 30 as National Addictions Awareness Week.

"This week is opportunity to talk about the harm caused by addictions, as well as treatment and recovery options for those who are struggling with addictions," Mental Health and Addictions Minister Lori Carr said. "Under our Action Plan for Mental Health and Addictions, we now have 215 new treatment spaces offering services to support Saskatchewan residents on their path to recovery."

The Action Plan announced in October 2023, includes a commitment to add 500 new spaces over five years. The 215 spaces include:

- 15 spaces at Muskwa Lake;
- 15 inpatient treatment spaces and two withdrawal management spaces at Thorpe Recovery Centre near Lloydminster;
- 26 post-treatment spaces at St. Joseph's Addiction Recovery Centre in Estevan;

- 32 intensive outpatient treatment spaces at Possibilities Recovery Center in Saskatoon;
- 14 inpatient addictions treatment spaces at Poundmaker's Lodge in North Battleford;
- 60 treatment spaces at the Willowview Recovery Centre in Lumsden;
- 15 withdrawal management spaces at Onion Lake; and
- 36 virtual spaces through EHN Canada.

The Campaign has established two pilot Early Screening Programs in partnership with communities whose citizens are at high risk for Kidney Disease, empowering community members to have the best possible health outcomes. We will also establish Saskatchewan's first Kidney Health and Education Centre and Transition Program, as well as construct an Indigenous Healing Center. Additionally, we will continue our legacy of compassionate and holistic care through pilot Patient Porters, who support patients in navigating the Hospital and accessing care. With your help, we will improve patient experiences, autonomy and outcomes, and positively affect the future of kidney health in Saskatchewan.

You still have time to give the gift of an elegant Mistletoe Basket. Specially curated by the Mistletoe Committee using local products from SaskMade, each basket purchase will support the By Your Side Kidney Care Campaign.

Everyone who buys a basket will also have the opportunity to WIN 1 of 12, $1,000 photo sessions with Anna Kalyta.

You can help save and change lives by purchasing your basket today.

NOTE: The deadline to purchase Mistletoe Baskets in support of our By Your Side Kidney Care Campaign is December 6th.

SASKATCHEWAN CANCER AGENCY TO WELCOME NINE NEW PHYSICIANS TO PROVINCE

Cancer patients in Saskatchewan will soon benefit from new physician expertise, thanks to recent recruitment efforts at the Saskatchewan Cancer Agency (SCA) that have resulted in nine new physician hires.

"I am very pleased to share the great news that these highly qualified health professionals are joining our medical teams to provide timely, high-quality care to patients," Health Minister Jeremy Cockrill said. "We are working hard through our ambitious Health Human Resources Plan to recruit more specialists in key areas and strengthen health care teams. It is great to see this plan continue to show results in attracting top talent to benefit patients in our province."

"Our teams have been working incredibly hard to target physicians in key areas for the Agency, with support and investment from the Government of Saskatchewan's Health Human Resource Plan," SCA Medical Affairs and Physician Operations Director Nicki Bayfield-Ash said. "Saskatchewan has a long history of providing high quality cancer care, and these new faces, who will be serving patients all across the province, will be welcomed with open arms."
