PROVINCE REMAINS ON TRACK WITH BALANCED BUDGET

The First Quarter Financial Report released today by Deputy Premier and Finance Minister Ken Krawetz shows that Saskatchewan remains on track to have the only provincial balanced budget in Canada in 2012-13.

A weak global economic recovery has fuelled volatility in commodity markets, reducing renewable resource revenue. Overall, revenue is forecast to be down $113.2 million from budget, largely due to reduced revenue projections from oil and Crown land sales.

"While resource revenue can fluctuate over the course of an entire year, the overall strength of our economy coupled with our government's commitment to sound fiscal management will ensure a balanced budget for the people of Saskatchewan," Krawetz said.

40th SASKATCHEWAN SUMMER GAMES

I had the privilege of participating in the opening ceremonies of the 40th Saskatchewan Summer Games in Meadow Lake July 29 along with my colleague Jeremy Harrison, MLA, Meadow Lake. This year approximately 2,000 athletes are participating in the games which wrapped up August 4. The athletes represent nine districts in Saskatchewan – Regina, South East, South West, Parkland Valley, Prairie Central, Saskatoon, Rivers West, Lakeland, and North.

My daughter, Paige, participated in the games this year and I am very proud to say that she has won six medals! Her gold medals came in the 11 and 12 age group events for the 100m backstroke and 200m individual medley, while she earned her silver medals in the 200 and 400m freestyle, 200m backstroke, and 50m butterfly. Speaking to the Saskatoon Star Phoenix, Paige said, "I've had lots of support from family, friends, and my teammates." She also acknowledged two coaches who played key roles. Geoff

Waugh has coached her all year with the Goldfins, and Nadine Brenaut helped her leading up to Meadow Lake. "(Waugh) has been very supportive. He's always pushed me to be my best. He's such a great coach," said Cheveldayoff. "Nadine Brenaut, I didn't know her for too long, but she's very nice. She pushes you, but she doesn't point out what you're doing wrong, she points out what you need to do better."

Congratulations to all the athletes who have participated and to the volunteers who have ensured the games ran smoothly.

PREMIER LOOKING TO MAKE HEALTH CARE BETTER ACROSS CANADA

Premier Brad Wall and P.E.I. Premier Robert Ghiz released a health report entitled, "From Innovation to Action" to Canadian premiers at the recent Council of the Federation meeting in Halifax.

The report provides practical and innovation solutions to improve the country's health care system in a sustainable way. Three of the areas the Premiers focused were the clinical practice guidelines, team-based health care delivery models, and health human resources management initiatives.

PUTTING PATIENTS FIRST

As part of the province's continued efforts to improve access to high-quality patient care, Health Minister Dustin Duncan announced $9.83 million in funding for a new program to encourage and reward family physicians in providing patients with a full range of services.

"Physicians are vital partners as we transform our health system to better meet patients' needs, including improving access to health care," Duncan said. "As part of our agreement with the Saskatchewan Medical Association, I am pleased to introduce the Family Physician Comprehensive Care Program to recognize family physicians that provide patients with a full range of primary care services, while at the same time encouraging more physicians to expand their practices to full comprehensive care."

Physicians who qualify for the program monitor the overall health of their patients, collaborate with other health care providers on their care, and manage their patients' chronic diseases. In addition, qualifying physicians are caring for their patients when they are hospitalized, in a nursing home, or having a baby.

"We know from other high-performing health systems that when patients are provided comprehensive primary care services, such as chronic disease management, their health and satisfaction with the service improves - and this approach is consistent with our focus on patient- and family-centered health care," Duncan said.

PUBLIC INPUT NEEDED ON FUTURE OF ELECTRONIC HEALTH RECORDS

Eventually, every person in the province will have an electronic health record (EHR) that is a private, lifetime record of their medical history. These EHRs will provide authorized health care professionals immediate access to test results, past treatments, and medication profiles. At this point, some of the infrastructure is already in place, or under development, which will feed into the information for the EHR.

“We have made a great effort to ensure we are putting the patient first in our health care system, and that includes their electronic health information.” Health Minister Dustin Duncan said. “It’s important that we know what the patient or caregiver needs and wants in that technology and that will be the most value to them.”

Information collected through the surveys, combined with feedback being gathered through health sector workshops taking place over the summer, will help shape the future of electronic health records in Saskatchewan.

eHealth Saskatchewan is inviting residents to visit <http://www.ehealth-sk.ca/> to learn more about electronic health records and participate in a short survey to answer questions about what type of electronic services would be useful to them. The survey will be available until midnight on September 7. Public Engagement Sought on Future of Electronic Health Records

LABOUR FORCE FRIDAY

We are pleased to announce a new all-time high for employment in Saskatchewan was set in June 2012, continuing the province’s strong economic performance. Employment has increased year-over-year for seven months in a row. Saskatoon’s employment was up by 5,000 workers and Regina’s employment was up by 3,300.

These positive numbers reflect the province’s continuing economic momentum. With record weekly earnings for workers and high optimism by businesses to expand their operations, future job prospects in Saskatchewan are strong.

LOCAL VOLUNTEER UP FOR THE SCOTIA BANK GAME CHANGER

Robin Bellamy has dedicated his life to helping those around him. Over the years Robin and his wife, Morgan, have set up community food drives, community BBQs, and helped those hit by a typhoon in the Philippines.

Robin’s son Che’ was in a terrible car accident and was left a paraplegic. In 2008, Che’ passed away from a heart attack at the age of 35. In honour of his son, Robin and Morgan took Che’s hand-driven bike from Prince Albert to Regina for the Labour Day Classic to raise money for the Children’s Hospital in Saskatchewan.

Because of Robin’s commitment to the community, city, and province, he has been honoured with the Canada 125 Medal, Saskatchewan Centennial Medal, Saskatoon 100 Reasons Award, as well as the Saskatchewan Volunteer Medal.

Robin has recently been nominated for one of the ScotiaBank’s Game Changers. If he is chosen as The Saskatchewan Roughrider ScotiaBank Game Changer, the proceeds will go to Saskatchewan’s Children’s Hospital Foundation.

I encourage everyone to visit the website below to vote for Robin for the Game Changer title and donation to the Saskatchewan’s Children’s Hospital Foundation.

THE NEW GUARD HONOURS THE OLD GUARD

The Canada Remembers Air Show was back again this year to honour our veterans. The event first began in 1995 in recognition of the 50th Anniversary of the end of the Second World War. Since then over 400,000 visitors have seen the show and it has been the country's largest annual memorial to veterans. This year's theme was The New Guard Honours the Old Guard.

"There is a lot of sacrifices made for the country and are still being made every year," said Brian Swidrovich, a veteran organizer for the air show. "I think it is incumbent for us to step forward and try and make every effort to honour our veterans."

BLAINE LAKE CENTENNIAL

It was absolutely fantastic to attend the 100th anniversary in Blaine Lake this past weekend. It is always a pleasure to go back to my hometown and see everyone who has been so supportive of me and our family. It was such an honour to have the privilege of cutting the ribbon at the beautiful new metal wheat sheaf sculpture! The town was buzzing with such positive activity throughout the weekend. My family and I enjoyed participating in the parade and seeing how the volunteers of this community came together to provide an excellent weekend of fun for people of all ages.

On Sunday, along with MLA Scott Moe, we had the opportunity to open the new Seniors Centre. It is an incredible new facility that will be the centre of activity in Blaine Lake.

Thank you to everyone in Blaine Lake for such a memorable weekend. The excellent weather resulted in superb attendance as young and old renewed friendships and created new ones. Another fantastic Saskatchewan event!

SASKATOON EXHIBITION 2012

As August begins, it is time for the tradition of the Saskatoon Exhibition. This year's Exhibition kicked off August 7 with the Exhibition Parade in downtown Saskatoon.

This year's festivities look like they will be one of the best. There will be new rides on the midway, chuck wagon races for adults and children, the Saskatchewan Blue Cross Show Stage, the main stage, the indoor displays, as well as new this year, the Saskatoon Ex Ribfest.
